

2023.

See you

Alone at last!
Here's to silence...

and naps in
the cloister!

BBBBRRRRP!

Ah!

what's all the fuss !?!

Come on Gargoyles,
we've got our work cut out for us :

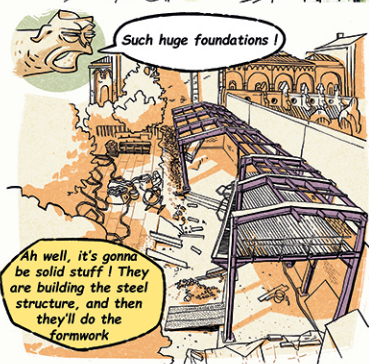

Just because the museum
is closed, doesn't mean we'll be twiddling our thumbs !

Now that the excavations are
over, the site work
can begin !

Especially since
I have no
thumb...

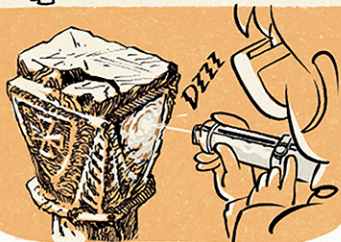

We transform into steam the dirt and pollution accumulated over the years.

And there is no damage for the sculpture?

No! It stops automatically when reaching the level of the white stone

Just like my coffee break ending when I see the white colour of my cup
Hey
Hey

Come on, I'm going back!

Humph!
Who played with the laser?!
It's bloody dangerous!

Musée des Augustins
second floor
Comm Office
09:47 am

It's too risky
We'll have to climb
the Stairway
of Death

No, it's much too dangerous

What are you doing ?

We have a team meeting

I don't see
what's so risky
about it.

Because of the building structure, our offices are far from those of our colleagues...

...and since the start of the works, passageways
are blocked off.

Which leaves us with only 2 possibilities :

A option

B option

A option :
You get out of the building and you
walk around
it

But it
always rains !

B option
We go through the Stairway
of Death. 103 irregular, slippery steps, 65 cm wide.

It seems that several Augustinians died
there and have haunted the place ever since.

Grumpf!
ok.
I'll take
the stairs!

And I go through the outside

Good luck!

Vroum

Oh great there you are Geneviève and Ghislaine!
Do you have the
website file?

Bouhouhou

I think they should have
their meetings
on video!
